PRESENTERS

Joel Friedman, PHD, Clinical Director, Center for Family Guidance

Barbara Moranski, MSW, LSW, Associate Vice President of Trauma and Violence Prevention Programs, Traumatic Loss Coalition Coordinator, Center for Family Services

GOALS

- To gain knowledge of current trends in suicide risk and risk reduction.
- To develop comprehensive and practical approaches/plans toward the mitigation of the risk of suicide in Camden County youth and at risk populations.

OBJECTIVES

- Experts will share the latest evidence and knowledge/research on suicide and its practical application to community efforts.
- Identify risk factors such as substance abuse and mental health.
- Give hope through education that death by suicide is preventable.
- Identify national and local resources for fundraising, education and advocacy.
- Lead an interactive planning session to help move participants from awareness to developing their own personal action plan.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Professionals and Community Members who are motivated by their own experiences such as a loss by suicide, concerns about risk for suicide in their community or are working with youth and at-risk populations such as individuals who are homeless veterans, first responders, LGBTQI, incarcerated youth and adults, individuals with mental health challenges and individuals with substance abuse problems.
