Camden County Division of Senior & Disabled Citizen Services

The Camden County Division of Senior & Disabled Services was among the first county offices on aging in the state when it was created by the Camden County Freeholders in 1967. It was 1968 before the office had a small budget and a one-person staff. Under these limitations the office organized local senior citizen groups and provided some recreation.

The agency's scope grew after being designated an Area Agency on Aging in 1973 and assumed the local responsibilities for implementation of the Federal Older Americans Act.

Today, the Camden County Division of Senior & Disabled Services administers a budget totaling more than $4.5 million and supervises numerous senior programs throughout the county. In addition, the Division of Senior Services serves as the central clearinghouse for all senior programs in the county, regardless of their funding sources.

In 1998 The Camden County Division of Senior & Disabled Services became a part of NJ EASE (Easy Access Single Entry). NJ EASE is a new and easy way for seniors to obtain information and services. NJ EASE means a single agency will service the needs of our seniors and their family members.

FOCAL POINT OF AGING NETWORK
