

REENTRY NEWSLETTER

April 2022

camden county

Making It Better, Together.

Message from Commissioner Jonathan L. Young, Sr.

Welcome to the inaugural issue of the Camden County Reentry newsletter! This month we celebrate recognition of Second Chance Month!

April was proclaimed as Second Chance Month by President Joseph R. Biden Jr. in March 2021 and by Camden County Resolution on April 21, 2022. This formal recognition is a commitment to ensuring all individuals with a history of criminal justice involvement have every opportunity to return to their community and remain arrest free.

For Camden County, recognizing Second Chance Month means that we are working to secure equal and timely access to employment and job training, healthcare, treatment, and social supports, among other support services, for those individuals who are leaving our jail.

Many of us know that adjusting to life following release from jail or prison is not easy. Regardless of whether someone has been incarcerated for one day or twenty years, the uphill battle one faces to get a job, to find stable housing, to receive benefits, to access healthcare, and a myriad of other challenges, is difficult. Many of the policies, rules, and restrictions in place make it much more difficult for people to come out of the penal system and simply resume life as normal and to be productive citizens of our community.

These challenges are precisely why Camden County has expanded current jail population reduction efforts to include reentry. Reentry is an integral part of the continuum that, when properly implemented, can effectively reduce the number of individuals who return to jail following release from incarceration. Reentry in Camden County means honestly and vigorously exploring how all partners can play a role in reducing or eliminating these barriers all together to level the playing field so that incarcerated individuals truly have a chance in their communities to live healthy, productive, and fulfilling lives for the betterment of all.

April 21, 2022 Camden County Commissioner Meeting: Warden Karen Taylor, Sean Washington, Marcella Walton, Esterlin Torres, Antonne Henshaw, Commissioner Jonathan L. Young, Russell Owen, Sharon Bean, and Victoria Nicolosi

On Thursday, April 21, 2022, the Camden County Board of Commissioners passed Resolution 62 designating April as Second Chance Month in the County of Camden. This Resolution mirrors President Joseph R. Biden Proclamation on Second Chance Month, 2022, where it states "America is a Nation of second chances, and it is critical that our criminal and juvenile justice systems provide meaningful opportunities for rehabilitation and redemption. It is also vital that we address both the root causes of crime and the underlying needs of returning citizens using resources devoted to prevention, diversion, reentry, trauma-informed care, culturally-specific services, and social support."

Second Chance Month is an opportunity to recognize the importance of assisting individuals returning home to our communities following a term of incarceration. In this Resolution, the Board of Commissioners and the County of Camden demonstrate their commitment as we reimagine, rebuild, and rethink our criminal justice system as we support each person coming home to achieve their goals and to remain free of any further law enforcement contact.

Second Chance Month is a commitment to focus each day on prevention, intervention, and reentry and less on incarceration. Members of the Camden County NuEntry Opportunity Specialist (NOS) Credible Messenger Team pictured above were presented with the Proclamation acknowledging April as Second Chance Month.

NuEntry Opportunity Specialists - Camden County Credible Messenger Team

The range of individuals who are impacted by the criminal justice or carceral systems is vast and far-reaching.

All reentry efforts in Camden County are virtually meaningless without the presence and voice of both individuals that have themselves experienced these systems and the communities where they live and will likely return home following incarceration.

Communities must be engaged in efforts to address the needs of those returning home as well as the families and neighborhoods to which they are returning. Community partners can help shape attitudes and perceptions, grassroots activism, service delivery, policy decisions, government practices, and other local responses to reentry.

Camden County community engagement initiative is embedded in the belief that empowering returning residents, partner organizations, and the public will interrupt cycles of harm and build thriving communities. We are committed to engaging multiple audiences and covering a range of topics to identify the needs of the individual and of the community.

One of Camden County's key initiatives to engage our community is the development of a network of individuals with lived system experience, nationally referred to as Credible Messengers. In Camden our Credible Messengers are NuEntry Opportunity Specialists (NOS). The NOS Credible Messenger Team, founded in 2018, is rooted in the philosophy that individuals will benefit immensely from the interaction with and support of their peers; peers that have "walked in their shoes."

The NOS Team provides guidance, support, and assistance to individuals returning home with navigating resources and services throughout Camden County in addition to helping with problem solving, conflict, and coping with stress that can be associated while adjusting to life back home in your community. NOS plays an indispensable role in the facilitation of community group discussions, events, and trainings.

Camden County Reentry Partners

The Camden County Reentry Committee, established in 2017, is comprised of system stakeholders and community-based service and treatment providers working to identify systemic barriers and challenges individuals face post-involvement in the criminal justice system, particularly following a period of incarceration. Over the last five years myriad policies, practices, and programs have been implemented to eliminate barriers, to provide timely and equitable access to resources and services, and to create opportunities to assist with one's goal to remain free of future law enforcement contacts.

Building a vast and comprehensive network of services and providers is vital to Camden County. Since 2017 almost 50,000 individuals have been incarcerated in the Camden County Correctional Facility and approximately 90% will return to Camden County following release. The Bureau of Justice Statistics has estimated that nearly three-quarters of all released prisoners will be rearrested within five years of their release – and about six in ten will be reconvicted. Second Chance Month is also an opportunity to acknowledge our community of providers committed to helping system-impacted individuals and their families.

Program Provider Spotlight - Peer Reentry Program

The Camden County Department of Corrections was awarded two reentry grants from the Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA) in 2020 to support individuals with a Substance Use Disorder as they transition home following a period of incarceration. The two grants enable the development of Reentry Peer Support Teams. The Peer Support Teams Model merges the Peer Recovery Model with the Credible Messenger (CM) Model, a model that is a holistic, comprehensive approach to justice that transforms and improves individual lives, rearranges relationships between communities and the justice system, and empowers neighborhoods to use the resources they have within to maintain public safety. Each Peer Support Team will be comprised of two Peer Support Specialists, pairing together one individual with lived recovery experience and one individual with lived experience in the criminal justice and incarceration systems. Peer Support Teams will engage individuals in the pre- and post-release stage in the recovery process and supports to reduce the likelihood of relapse and recidivism.

In early 2022, Center for Family Services (CFS), was awarded the contract to operate the Peer Reentry Program in partnership with the Camden County Department of Corrections. With services across New Jersey and a history dating back to 1920, CFS committed to uplifting individuals and families through an innovative continuum of care. Furthermore, CFS is well positioned and has demonstrated capacity and experience to work collaboratively with the Camden County Department of Corrections to achieve the goals of the Peer Reentry Program. Camden County is excited for this new program to get underway!

VOLUNTEERS OF AMERICA - SAFE RETURN

Volunteers of America Delaware Valley's Safe Return Program, funded by the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs, provides reentry assistance and a broad range of essential services for individuals returning to society within three years of being incarcerated and who are no longer under criminal justice supervision. Safe Return ensures that individuals returning to society from incarceration are given the tools and care they need in order to establish and lead self-fulfilling, independent lives after reintegrating back into society.

The program offers the following key services:

- Case management and family reunification
- Housing assistance
- Employment services – job readiness, employment training, job placement
- Education assistance
- Legal assistance and advocacy
- Benefits assessment and reinstatement assistance
- Substance abuse and mental health linkage
- Treatment referral and linkage
- Assistance with State Identification & Driver's license

Operating within established VOADV offices and embedded satellite offices, the Safe Return program is a one-stop place for reentry needs and services, covering the entirety of the organization's footprint across southern New Jersey.
